Twenty-Ninth Sunday in Ordinary Time

October 22, 2017

Isaiah 45:1, 4-6; 1 Thess 1:1-5b; Mt 22:15-21
Psalm 96

Dear Families:

In today's gospel we learn how Jesus' enemies were plotting to entrap Him, by finding ways to accuse Him before the authorities and discredit Him before the people. They did this by raising the question of whether or not it was lawful to pay the census tax to Caesar (the emperor of Rome).

The Jews felt humiliated by this tax, which was a consequence of their country being under Roman occupation. Some Jewish groups, like the Sadducees and Herodians, collaborated with the foreign power, in supporting this tax. The Pharisees on the other hand, considered this tax to be unlawful, and symbolic of Roman oppression. The Zealots (an extreme group) adamantly opposed the tax, and sometimes took up arms to show their opposition.

This is why this question was so compromising to Jesus. Also, because of the fact that the emperor was considered a deity, the Jews viewed this tax as a way of worshipping the emperor. This greatly affected the moral conscience of the people, to the point of revulsion. The response of Jesus disarmed His opponents because the solution He gave does not put Caesar against God, nor does it oppose the temporal to the spiritual, the political to the religious or civil authority to the Kingdom of God, but rather recognizes the autonomy of the temporal, while retaining the primacy of God.

Give to God what belongs to God is of most importance. Church and State are subordinate to the sovereign Lord of history. Each must play its part, in order to fulfill the Kingdom of God, which is the primary concern.

From this teaching, we Christians should clearly understand on one hand our relationship to the state, including our obligation to abide by certain standards, such as paying taxes and conforming to the law. But, on the other hand, obedience to God is above any civil duty. Hence, in case of conflict, Christians should always opt for obedience to the law of God. We must obey God before we obey man.

In terms of politics, elections and so on, Christians should try to favor those positions which clearly conform to the will of God. We must not remain passive. To vote is the modern right of human beings to pursue a better way of life, and the primary mechanism by which our society evolves.

May God bless you,

Fr. Celestino, Pastor

Today is World Mission Sunday. Let's help the Church's mission of spreading the Gospel with our prayers and offerings.

Vigésimo Noveno Domingo del Tiempo Ordinario

22 de Octubre del 2017

Isaías 45:1, 4-6; 1 Tes 1:1-5b; Mateo 22:15-21
Salmo 96 [95]

Queridas Familias:

En este domingo leemos el evangelio donde a Jesús le plantean una pregunta que viene a ser una trampa, pues esperaban los enemigos de Jesús acusarle a las autoridades y desprestigiarle delante del pueblo. La pregunta es si debían pagar el impuesto al César (el Emperador de Roma).

Los Judíos se sentían humillados por este impuesto como consecuencia de que el país estaba ocupado por los romanos. Algunos grupos de judíos, como los saduceos y herodianos, eran colaboracionistas del poder extranjero y partidarios de pagar el impuesto. Los fariseos consideraban ilícito el pagar el impuesto y lo hacían forzados. Los zelotes (especie de guerrilleros) se oponían violentamente hasta con las armas).

Por eso esta pregunta era bien comprometedor para Jesús. Además al ser considerado el emperador como una deidad, para los judíos el pago del impuesto parecía como una especie de adoración al emperador. Esto repugnaba la conciencia moral del pueblo. La respuesta de Jesús desarmó sus adversarios pues la solución que dio no opone el César a Dios, lo temporal a lo espiritual, lo político a lo religioso, la autoridad civil al Reino de Dios, sino que reconoce la autonomía de lo temporal estableciendo la primacía a Dios.

Dar a Dios lo que es de Dios es lo primero. Iglesia y Estado están supeditados a Dios, Señor de la historia. Cada uno tiene su propia función en orden al Reino de Dios, que es lo principal.

Ante esta enseñanza los cristianos debemos tener claro por un lado nuestra pertinencia a un país, un estado; y nuestras obligaciones y deberes con el mismo: impuestos, cumplir las leyes. Pero por otro lado está firmemente sentado que la obediencia a Dios está por encima de todo poder civil; por eso en caso de conflicto, los cristianos deben optar siempre por la obediencia a la ley de Dios. Hay que obedecer a Dios antes que a los hombres.

Ante la política, las elecciones de nuestros representantes, del presidente, etc., los cristianos debemos actuar de acuerdo con aquellas posiciones que favorezcan la voluntad de Dios para el bien de los ciudadanos. No hay que quedar pasivos. El voto es el derecho moderno al ser humano para buscar el mejor ordenamiento de la sociedad en que vive.

Que Dios los bendiga,

Padre Celestino, Párroco

Reflections of Pope Francis

□ There is the tendency to place ourselves and our ambitions at the center of our lives. This is very human, but is not Christian. □

□ When a society lacks God, even prosperity is joined by a terrible spiritual poverty. □
